GOOD MORNING, AMERICA: If you were watching ABC's "Good Morning America" show this morning (Wednesday), you should have seen the Gould Academy community wishing "good morning" to the nationwide viewing audience. The students were lined up last Wednesday for the filming, which was done by ABC affiliate WMTW.

Bethel voters get warrant articles at Oct. 16 meeting

Bethel voters will get a chance to express themselves on the police budget and on the town's Comprehensive Plan at a special town meeting scheduled for Oct. 16.

The Board of Selectmen Monday night decided to place both issues on the warrant for that date. The meeting will be at Telstar Regional High School, 7 p.m.

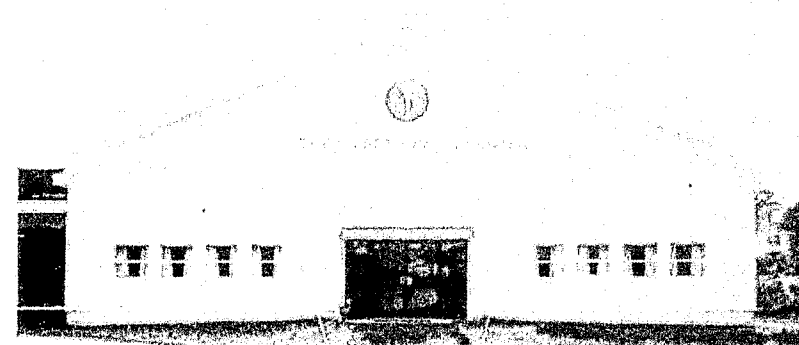

The police budget issue basically asks voters if they want to add an additional $22,000 to the police budget for extra police protection.

The Comprehensive Plan question asks voters if they will approve the revised Comprehensive Plan, which has been discussed at two public hearings.

In other action Monday night, the selectmen awarded to Ripley & Fletcher the contract for supplying lead-free gas for the police cruiser. The winning bid was 91.7 cents, less federal and state taxes, and minus a 7-cent per gallon discount.

The board approved a sewer connection permit for Clifford and Yvonne Hill, on the Songo Pond Road.

The board accepted the high bid of $568 for a surplus dump truck body. The bid was made by Martha and Edward Gammon.

THE BETHEL AREA HEALTH CENTER opened in its new quarters this week—the remodeled A&P, on Railroad Street. The actual first day in the larger quarters was over the weekend. The staff saw patients in the old building, on Main Street, Friday, then moved Friday night, and saw patients in the new building Saturday. The old building is being sold to an investor in the Boston area. The grand opening of the new health center will be Nov. 9. For a view of the inside of the new facility, see page 5.

Planning Board receives Eden Ridge information

At its meeting last Wednesday night, the Bethel Planning Board received the additional information it had requested of the developers of the planned Eden Ridge subdivision. The added information regards utility easements and locations, a soil and drainage erosion plan and an outline plan of the individual lots.

The next step in the process of getting approval for the 52-unit subdivision, between Eden Lane and Vernon Street, is for the developers to present final plans to the Planning Board, which will then ask for a public hearing to discuss the proposal.

Also appearing at the meeting last Wednesday night was John Laban, of The Bethel Inn, who shared with the board the Inn's plans for adding nine more holes to the golf course and building luxury condominiums adjacent to the golf course. The Inn has not yet sought any permits and the plans were shared merely to keep the board aware of the plans.

Ray Harrington also appeared before the board and asked about what permits he would need if he decided to build a convenience store on Rte. 28, near Davis Lumber.

Special town meeting in Andover to decide on accepting $10,000

Andover voters will go to a special town meeting Oct. 16 to decide whether or not to accept a state grant of $10,000 to help the town prepare a request for federal block grant funds.

The town is seeking federal money to help with a revitalization of the downtown area and to assist local businesses to expand.

The state money is being handled by the State Planning Office. The Androscoggin Valley of Governments is assisting the town in its quest for the block grant.

Don't look at sun during solar eclipse

On Friday, Oct. 3, most of North America will be treated to a partial solar eclipse. In the western Maine region maximum eclipse (about 90 percent of totality) will occur between 3 and 3:30 p.m.

DO NOT look directly at the sun during the eclipse. Because much of the sun's light will be blocked it might not be too uncomfortable to look directly at the sun. However, while the visible light won't be as strong, the ultraviolet light will still be intense enough to severely damage your eyes. Your eyes only warn you when visible light is too strong. Don't let them be fooled by the invisible—but still extremely dangerous—ultraviolet light!

Tourism supplement deadline this Friday

The deadline for submitting advertising for The Citizen's winter tourism supplement is this Friday.

Advertisers who have not yet submitted their copy for the supplement, which will be distributed to 35,000 winter sports enthusiasts throughout New England, are advised to do so immediately.

Anyone with questions about ad sizes and prices should call The Citizen office, 824-2444.

Summer season was very hot for tourism business

It may have been a cool and wet summer, but it was not a washout for the local tourism industry. Far from it. The tourists came despite the weather.

"It was great for us," said Sue Stevens, of Littlefield Beaches Campground, in Locke Mills, about the recently concluded summer tourism season. She noted, however, "We had a lot of complaints about the weather."

Ms. Stevens keeps records on conditions in the campground each Saturday night, and according to her records, there were only three Saturday nights without rain during the entire summer. Nevertheless, the campers came. "A lot of it is people who have made their reservations a year ahead of time," she said.

W. Paris shopping for another bank

Citizens of West Paris are organizing to form a search committee to find a bank interested in setting up a branch in town when the Bethel Savings Bank leaves. Savings Bank officials have said they expect to move their West Paris branch to South Paris in April.

A formal decision on the bank's application to move the branch will be made later this week, an official of the Federal Home Loan Bank board, in Boston, told The Citizen. The board is the federal agency that rules on such matters. Bethel Savings Bank officials have said they expect approval of their application to move the branch.

The organizing efforts to find a new bank for the town are being led by Charles Gordon. An organizational meeting is planned for Oct. 13, at 7 p.m., in the fire station.

Bill Gibson, of the Bethel Savings Bank Advisory Board, sent a letter of protest that he and a group of concerned citizens had drafted to the board in Boston. But he felt it would serve no purpose, since the board had not even considered a protest petition with over 400 signatures sent in a week earlier.

Last Wednesday night, Bethel Savings Bank officials hosted a public forum at the Agnes Gray School to inform local citizens as to why the bank was moving its branch.

About 30 people showed up, and most of them were hoping the bank officials might have changed their minds about moving the branch since a public meeting a week earlier. But that was not the case.

Public hearing tonight in West Paris on two requests for variances

The West Paris Appeals Board will hold a public hearing tonight (Wednesday) on two requests for variances on setback requirements.

One request is from Raymond and Barbara Farr to put a trailer on their lot on High Street. The position of the trailer would be closer than permitted to the road, although a trailer had been in a similar position on the property some years ago.

The second request is from the town office, which wants a variance to build a barrier-free entrance to the town office, which would also be closer to the road than permitted.

The hearing will be at 7 p.m., at the fire station.

Budget committee at Woodstock holds meeting

The initial fall meeting of the Woodstock Budget committee was held at the Town Hall on Tuesday, Sept. 23.

Wendell Twitchell was elected as committee chairman, with Bill Riley serving as secretary and John Geraghty as co-secretary. Other members of the panel are: Ethel Davis, Les Thurlow, Emery Ryerson, Tom House, Margaret Hand, and Percy McInnis.

The need for a current report on third quarter expenses to budget was discussed as was the procedure of department head's budget requests for 1987. Additional plans will be made at the next meeting.

Meetings are held on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

A few hints for locals looking for homes in the Bethel area:

1) Clothing: Try to wear something from L.L. Bean; boat shoes or shirt and pants with Bean labels attached. Something from Lands End catalog will work just as well. Allow four to six weeks for delivery.

2) Transportation: If you know someone with a Volvo or Saab, borrow it. If you know anyone with either of these who has Mass. plates, so much the better. Also you will need a ski rack, preferably with some expensive Elan skis on it. These can be rented from your local ski areas. The effect will be well worth it. If you are looking through the summer months, use an Old Town canoe or sailboard—this will have the same effect.

3) Children: Try not to let on you have any children. Leave them with a sitter or grandparents. If you have to let on you have children, say that they are away at a creative writing camp learning how to write promotional brochures for four-season recreational areas.

4) Occupation: Don't let them know you are locally employed. But don't lie. Example: If you are employed at a local mill, say something like, "I'm involved in the exportation of Moosehead furniture." You know there must be one or two dowels holding those chairs together.

5) If for some reason you have to lunch with a seller or their agent and you want to have a beer with your lunch, order Heineken or Samuel Adams, etc. Under no circumstance order a Bud. If you do, it's all over. Even better, forget the beer—order Perrier with lime.

6) Financing: When it comes to financing, say you have a trust fund, or your C.D.'s are about to mature. Don't let them know you are planning to go through Maine State Housing or FmHA until the last minute.

7) If you were looking for a home three or four years ago, say in the upper 30's, and could not afford it then, these hints aren't going to be of any help to you because that house is going for 60 to 70 now. Has your income doubled?

Good Luck!

To the Editor:

This is in response to... the interpretation placed upon current [party] enrollment figures in [an article] which appeared in The Bethel Citizen on Sept. 10. One paragraph indicated that, "Of the 1,114 newly enrolled voters [in Oxford County] since 1984, 631 registered as Republicans, while only nine registered as Democrats, according to a [Republican] state committee report. However, 474 registered as independents."

This interpretation is not supported by information on file in our office. While it is true that in 1986 there were 631 more Republicans [in Oxford County] than in 1984 and nine more Democrats than in 1984, the new total is obviously the result of several factors: new registrations, changes in enrollment status, and the various degrees to which registrars have purged their voting lists of unqualified voters. Thus, there may well have been scores of new and enrolled Democrats but their number could have been offset by revisions in the voting list, deaths and changes in enrollments.

Since these factors probably affected both parties and the unenrolled generally in the same way, it certainly is the case that Republican enrollments are greater than they were in 1984, both absolutely and in comparison with the number of Democrats.

The article is correct that over the past two years Republican enrollment [statewide] has increased 15,725 while Democrats gained 10,757. The number of unenrolled voters increased during that period by 12,792. This is the first year since 1972 that the Republican party has increased its proportion of all voters (from 29 percent to 30 percent) and it is the first time that the proportion of unenrolled voters has decreased (from 37 percent to 36 percent). The Democrats have maintained their proportion at 34 percent; Democratic enrollments have ranged between 33 and 35 percent since 1972.

To the Editor:

The Board of Directors, administration and staff of SAD #44 extends congratulations and best wishes to Gould Academy in its sesquicentennial year.

Gould's spirit of cooperation and sharing with the SAD #44 system is, we believe, of mutual benefit to our respective institutions.

Also much appreciated are the efforts of the greater Gould "family" as participants in volunteer programs within the schools of our district. Their interest and abilities have brought to many students in our schools an exposure to facets of the learning experience that might otherwise have been unavailable to them.

Again, our congratulations to Gould Academy on 150 years of service in the field of secondary education.

To the Editor:

I would like to call the attention of the Citizen readers to two television specials which are part of Project Literacy US (PLUS), the major initiative to increase awareness of the personal, societal and economic costs of illiteracy in America and in Maine.

Tonight (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. WCBB (Channel 10) will air Project Second Chance: Drop-Outs in America. On Friday, WMTW (Channel 8) will broadcast The Hidden Problem: Illiteracy at 7 p.m. The latter program was produced in Maine by WCBB and features a series of improvisations dramatizing the barriers encountered by adults who do not read well enough to function in today's world.

Stars of the improvisations are a number of Maine adult educators, including SAD #17's Judy Green. The same program was aired on Channel 10 on Sept. 28 and I can attest that it is well worth watching.

PLUS is a unique partnership between ABC television and the Public Broadcasting System, and has sparked a massive effort nationwide on the part of local affiliate stations and adult education programs to increase awareness about illiteracy. The many public service announcements—have you seen Jolly John or Judd Nelson—and the establishment of a 1-800 number for referrals are examples of PLUS at work in Maine.

I hope that you will watch these programs and encourage adults who might benefit from free help, in a 1-to-1 or small group setting, to contact the Adult Education office, 824-2780, or me at home, 824-2089.

To the Editor:

This past week saw the passing of the life of a venerable woman and educator in the person of Melva Greely Willard. Mrs. Willard as she was known by most students that had the opportunity to be educated under her tutelage. Her passing I am certain does not occur without stimulating considerable remembering by me and I am sure other of her former students from the Locke Mills Grade School.

The first real memory that I can date for certain of being one of her students was a Friday afternoon in 1963—Nov. 22, 1963 to be exact. On that day the three grades under her charge were playing a game of beanos as we usually did every Friday. (I later learned that this was her method of review of number and letter recognition for we younger children. She had been called from the class suddenly by Mrs. Jas. Haines, who was the principal at the time. When Melva returned her eyes were puffed and tears gently streamed down her cheeks, as she informed her students that the President of the United States had been killed. Hers was not an announcement of horror but of a more motherly concern of "My God what will happen to us now?" It is not being dismissed from school early that I remember that day. It is the memory of her humanity, concern and her strength in trying to make a room full of small children realize what was happening in the world outside our community.

There were other times, happier times. Like Christmas parties. She always made that grape punch with just a little ginger ale for fizz. Or the times that she would bring in one of her dolls for us to see. They had come from all over the world and were our link to those places that I had until that time only seen in story books.

A vivid and deep memory is the last

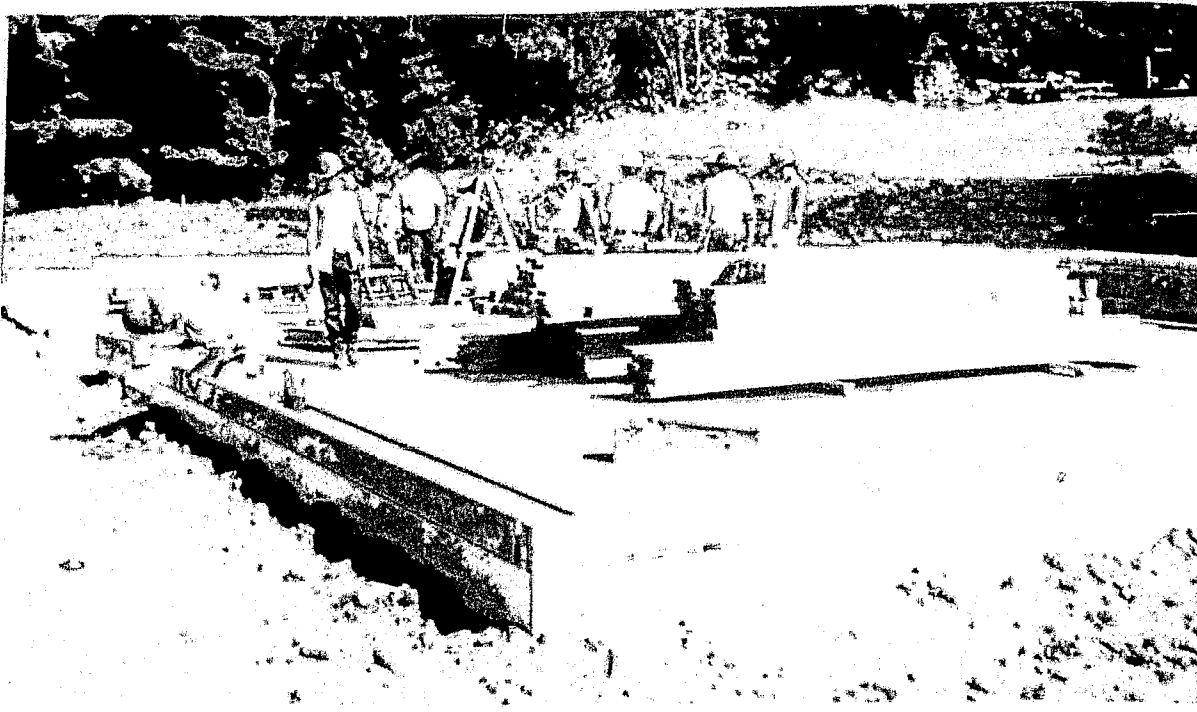

Editor's Corner

This weekend Gould Academy alumni from near and far will return to the venerable Church Street campus to celebrate the school's sesquicentennial.

For awhile during the weekend alumni will relive their years at the academy in what many will find to be familiar surroundings, and what others will recognize as vaguely familiar but different. Different because of the physical changes of the campus over the years. Enough remains the same to build a bridge over the years separating "then" and "now."

Whether alumni choose to reminisce about the English classes of Mr. Thompson or Mr. Fossett, the math classes of Mr. Clunie or Mr. Bowhay, the business classes of Mr. Myers or Miss Swift, the American history classes of Mr. Scott, the physics classes of Mr. Foster, the chemistry classes of Mr. Portier or Mr. Emery, the shop classes of Coach Anderson, the home ec classes of Miss Gallagher or Miss Whitney, the physical education classes of Joe Roderick or Miss Newman or Miss Stallwood, or other teachers and classes before, during, or after the 1940s, they will be sure to find kindred spirits among those present.

In all alumni gatherings, and most especially one celebrating a historic milestone in Gould history, those returning will realize a community of spirit and interest with classmates of earlier years that either was not realized or was ignored in "the days of our youth."

On the occasion of celebrating 150 years of service to the educational community, Gould should take pride that it, as a teacher epitomizes the thought of Henry Brooks Adams when he said, "A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops."

Members of this year's "50-Year Class," graduates in June of 1936, were the last under the guidance of Dr. Frank E. Hanscom, who had been principal at the academy since the fall of 1897. A graduate of Hebron Academy in 1885, Dr. Hanscom was superintendent of schools in Mechanic Falls and Poland from 1886 to 1892, when he became principal of Oxford High School. He received honorary degrees from Bates College in 1899 and from Bowdoin College in 1931, with a doctorate in education, his citation reading: "Since 1897 principal of Gould Academy, builder of enduring values in successive generations of boys and girls, whose sagacious and constructive leadership has given to an historic academy new life and worth."

Thomas Wolfe said, "You Can't Go Home Again," but he was wrong. We can go back, we can remember, recall our dreams, and dream new dreams. We can greet old friends, tread familiar paths, view familiar vistas and sing the old songs. Yes, we can go home again—the problem is, we can't be 18 again. jkb

Marching band at fair

Telstar Band Director Harry Davis has indicated that the Telstar Rebel Marching Band will be putting in an appearance at the Fryeburg Fair on Saturday. Mr. Davis felt that it was important to state some facts relative to this performance. This will not be the full band performing. New equipment being purchased through fund-raising is being acquired as the funds become available. This is also the situation with the new flag corps and color guard. "We are sending a small group to Fryeburg just to keep things moving along while we prepare for the annual Veterans Day parade. That is our target date to present the full marching band complete with flag corps and color guard. There is still some fund raising to be done by the music boosters, equipment to be purchased, and uniforms to make. I just don't want our supporters to get caught off guard by the small size of the group playing at the fair," said Mr. Davis.

W. PARIS SHOPPING FOR BANK

"I can't give you the answer you want to hear," Bank President Jim Delamater told the group. One local resident responded: "I know that, and I thought it was useless coming over here (tonight)."

Asked whether the Savings Bank would be willing to sell or lease the West Paris bank building to another bank, "Mr. Delamater said, 'We'd welcome someone else coming in here.'"

Mr. Delamater explained that the reason for relocating the branch was to position it more centrally in the Oxford Hills area, which has been a major growth area for bank business. "The growth in the Oxford Hills area has been phenomenal."

He said the bank would continue to serve the needs of West Paris from the new branch location, on Rte. 26 in South Paris. "We don't see it hurting the West Paris community. We'll still support the commerce of the community."

Asked why the bank couldn't have branches in both towns, Mr. Delamater said, "The cost of doing both would not be affordable." He said the expensive computerization in the West Paris building will be moved to South Paris.

ADULT DIPLOMA OFFERS SECOND CHANCE

Adults in SAD #44 have several options when it comes to earning a high school credential, according to Director of Adult and Community Education Cathy Newell. The changing job market, where employers are requiring a high level of basic skills, has brought adults into adult education programs in record numbers. And programs are responding by offering adults opportunities to complete high school or earn a GED in flexible ways that work to meet individual needs," stated Mrs. Newell.

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program encourages adults to join the evening classes leading to a Telstar High School diploma. Credits earned in evening classes are added to those credits which the individual has previously earned prior to dropping out of school. In addition credit may be awarded for work experience, military service, planned volunteer work or job exploration. Each adult entering the program meets with Mrs. Newell to plan their schedule. The courses offered for diploma credit this fall include English with Louise Chapman, Algebra I and U.S. History with Ann Holt. An exciting new class, designed with the needs of the younger adult students in mind is Making a Living/Making a Life. This will be devoted to career exploration and the development of personal goals for education and job seeking.

The External Credit Option program allows adults who are able to work successfully on their own to earn credits without attending night classes. According to External Credit Option supervisor Randall Bennett of SAD #44, the External Credit Option works well for students who are highly motivated and who face problems of work scheduling, transportation, or distance in attending regular classes. The key ingredient is the ability to take on an independent project and carry it through to completion under the supervision of a faculty member.

Career guidance and job seeking skills are a new area of emphasis in the SAD

Health Center holding flu clinics in area

The Bethel Area Health Center again will be holding flu clinics in Bryant Pond, Bethel, and Andover.

In Bryant Pond there will be a clinic on Friday, Oct. 3, from 12:30-2 p.m. at the Woodstock Town Hall.

The first one in Bethel will be held on Monday, Oct. 6, from 5:30-7 p.m. at the Bethel Area Health Center, with a second one being held on Tuesday, Oct. 7, at the senior citizens' meal site at the Bethel United Methodist Church from 12:30-2 p.m.

An Andover clinic will be held on Thursday, Oct. 9, 12:30-2 p.m. at the First Congregational Church.

Because the cost of the vaccine has increased, the charge for a flu shot will be $7.

Some people should check with a doctor before taking the influenza vaccine:

- Those who have a fever or feel ill with something more serious than a cold.
- Those who have received another type of vaccine in the past 2 weeks.
- Those with allergies to eggs.
- Those with multiple sclerosis or other personal neurological illness.
- Those who are pregnant.

The Northern Oxford Health and Service Council will provide flu shots for those who are needy and do not have Medicaid coverage. Flu shots are covered by Medicaid.

#44 Adult and Community Education program this fall. For the first time adult will have the availability of regular guidance hours on Tuesday evenings at Telstar with Merrill Bittner providing the service. Ms. Bittner was the acting director of the SAD #44 program last year and has a strong background in personal counseling. The SAD #44 program can help adults become aware of educational and vocational options in the area, and provides students with a chance to acquire brush-up skills and to explore areas of potential interest through the enrichment classes offered.

The GED or high school equivalency exam, is a popular route for adults seeking a high school credential. Adults, 17 years of age and over, are able to prepare for and take the 7 hour test which will earn their equivalency diploma from the State of Maine. For adults who need to complete their diplomas quickly in order to meet the demands of entry into a vocational school or to obtain work, the GED is often the best choice. Pat Morey, Rod Abbott, and Merrill Bittner will be working with GED candidates at adult learning centers at Telstar and Woodstock on Tuesday evenings, and at the Bethel Library on Tuesday mornings. A new option for GED preparation, in addition to the workbooks and texts especially for GED preparation, is the opportunity for adults to work on Apple computers with appropriate software to assist in preparation and gain computer familiarity as well.

Any adult who is not enrolled in high school is welcome to attend the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education classes for high school completion. Cathy Newell stated that adults who have a GED are welcome to join diploma classes for the purpose of earning their diplomas. "Although the GED is a widely respected and accepted credential, adults often want the opportunity to finish high school

August was busier than usual at the campground, with a great influx of non-reservation campers coming in off the road, according to Ms. Stevens. "Maybe people figuring they had to do it now or never," she concluded.

Most of those staying at the campground were from New England, especially Maine and New Hampshire, but there were campers from almost every state in the union. And Canada.

In fact, the numbers of Canadian tourists were up over recent years', despite the unfavorable dollar exchange rate.

In Bethel, there also seemed to be ample tourism business. Executive Director of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Robin Zinchuk said, "Given the weather we've had this summer, I think Bethel made out pretty well."

NTL, which always lives up the summer tourism season, had fewer students than usual this year. But it was not because of the weather.

For one thing, federal budget cuts forced government agencies to curtail sending a number of would-be students. For another, the downturn in the oil business affected Exxon's ability to send personnel to attend seminars. And Digital—one of the heaviest users of the training seminars—held back on sending their students until late in the summer.

Thus, many of the home, apartment and cottage rentals that usually go to NTL students and staff were going vacant. Ginger Kelly, of Maine Street Realty, who handles most of the rentals, said she began advertising them for tourists, and wound up with more tourists in her cottages than usual.

On the other hand, since Gould Academy closed its dormitories to NTL students this summer, lodging houses in town picked up additional business. "We're very fortunate in Bethel to have NTL. They're our saving grace no matter what the weather," Ms. Zinchuk commented.

In addition to being executive director of the chamber, Ms. Zinchuk also runs The Chapman Inn, with husband Doug. And she said her business was great. "I had 100 percent occupancy for 90 percent of the summer."

Jean Rossi, of the Rostay Motor Inn, also thought it was a red-hot summer for tourists. "It was our best summer ever," she said. Part of the reason was that fully half the Rostay's business is repeat business. But the rest of the reason was that there were a lot of tourists on the road—going from Canada or New York to Bar Harbor, or going back.

and have a feeling of identity with their high school and we welcome them." In addition, high school graduates often find that their skills may need expanding after years of neglect, and they may choose to enroll in a diploma class as well. Anyone who would like further information or would like to enroll for the fall term may contact Cathy Newell at the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780, or at home, 824-2089.

New physicians on staff at Rumford Hospital

Rumford Community Hospital signed on seven new physicians during the past year, according to Executive Director Ashley O'Brien.

The first was native son David Phillips, 2nd, a specialist in emergency medicine, who joined the RCH medical staff last summer. For the past several months he has been helping out at the Bethel Area Health Center. A 1983 graduate of Tufts New England Medical Center, Dr. Phillips completed his internship and residency in general surgery at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, Mass. He is the son of David L. Phillips, general surgeon and president of the RCH medical staff.

Radiologist Monique Aniel, and pediatrician Paulette Coty came to RCH in January. A resident of the area since 1981, Dr. Aniel completed her training as a radiologist at Maine Medical Center, in Portland. Her spouse, Dr. Albert Aniel, is a specialist in internal medicine who has been associated with the hospital since 1981.

Dr. Coty came to Rumford via Massachusetts, where she completed her internship and residency in pediatrics at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center, in Worcester. Following a year in private practice and a year at Hahnemann Hospital, in Worcester, she and her husband, Charles, decided to return to Maine—a state they had come to love during his five years at the Naval Air Station, in Brunswick. Parents of one son, 1½-year-old Kurt, they are currently building a new home in Milton.

Internist William F. Boucher was the next to arrive—also by way of Massachusetts. A graduate of Cornell University, Dr. Boucher completed his medical studies at Hahnemann University, in Philadelphia. He then went on to Baystate Medical Center, in Springfield, Mass., for his internship and residency, followed by an additional year as a fellow in cardiology.

In addition to his interest in cardiology, Dr. Boucher served for almost 10 years as medical director of alcohol services at Springfield and also as an assistant clinical instructor at the Tufts University School of Medicine. He and his wife, Suzanne, have four children and live in South Rumford.

A second radiologist, John Zibreg, arrived in July, thanks, in part, to the recruiting efforts of Dr. Aniel. A graduate of Bowling Green State University, in Ohio, Dr. Zibreg earned his medical degree from Temple University, interned at Abington Memorial Hospital, in Pennsylvania, and then completed a residency in emergency medicine at Louisville General Hospital, in Louisville, Ky. After four years in emergency medicine, at Altoona Hospital, he went back to school at Sinai Hospital, in Baltimore, Md., to complete a second residency in radiology. That was followed by a fellowship year at the Genesee Hospital, in Rochester, N.Y., where he worked with ultrasound and computerized axial tomograph (CAT) imaging—state-of-the-art diagnostic techniques now available at Rumford Community Hospital.

The specialist spectrum will be rounded out later this month when both Franklin Ross, Jr., an obstetrician-gynecologist, and Lloyd Harmon, a surgeon, begin seeing patients. After practicing for seven years in Martinsburg, W. Va., Dr. Ross, his wife, Robble, and son, Eric, moved north in search of a new challenge and a less urban lifestyle. A graduate of the University of Kansas School of Medicine, Dr. Ross interned at the U.S. Naval Hospital at Camp Pendleton and completed a residency in obstetrics-gynecology in affiliation with Loyola University, in Chicago.

Dr. Harmon comes to Rumford from the Malcolm Grow Medical Center, at Andrews Air Force Base, in Maryland. A graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy, he will leave the military with the rank of full colonel. He earned his medical degree from Case Western Reserve University, in Cleveland, Ohio, then interned and completed his residency in general surgery at David Grant Medical Center, Travis Air Force Base. Bethel area residents will also have easier access to urology services, for both children and adults, with the purchase of A.K. Ganguli's office by Michael L. Parker. A resident of Wilton, Dr. Parker plans to see patients both in Farmington and Rumford.

So. Woodstock

By OLIVE DAVIS

We are very sorry to hear of the death of Stuart Thurlow this week. Our sympathy is extended to Elly and all his relatives. He was such a hard worker and this untimely death is hard to understand.

This is the last day of summer and it is leaving us with a rainy day. What do you suppose fall will be like? It is time to think about your flu shots, before it becomes cold weather. Here is the chance to get them in this area. The Bethel Area Health Center will be holding flu clinics in Bethel, Bryant Pond and Andover. The first one will be on Monday, Oct. 6, from 5:30 to 7 at the Health Center and another at the Senior Citizen Meal Site, Bethel Methodist Church, from 12:30 to 2 p.m. on Oct. 7. The Andover clinic will be on Thursday, Oct. 9, from 12:30 to 2 p.m. at the First Congregational Church. In Bryant Pond the clinic will be Friday, Oct. 3, from 12:30 to 2 p.m. at the Town Hall. Because of the increased cost of the vaccine, the charge will be $7. Flu shots will be provided for those who are needy and do not have Medicaid coverage.

Have you ever taken in Buster's sale at the community building in South Woodstock? He has open shop every weekend.

Helvi Tuuci and Elinor Heikkinen called on me Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. David Shorey of Freeport called on Saturday evening and we had a nice visit.

Esther Davis took dinner with me Monday noon.

I was in Bridgton Sunday to help celebrate the birthday of my niece, Sylvia Andrews.

Frost has been playing around the town. It is time to harvest your gardens if you were fortunate to have anything to harvest. This has been the poorest year yet.

Where are all the bees?

The skunks have been around digging for grub worms out back. They sure have a good perfume.

Esther Davis is gaining from her fall. She is driving her car now.

Mr. and Mrs. James Whittemore, Livermore Falls, and daughter, Joyce Wyatt, of Goldsboro, N.C., took dinner with her sister, Esther Davis Wednesday and spent the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway attended Windsor Fair Wednesday. Mrs. Hathaway twisted her ankle while there. She has had to travel carefully this week.

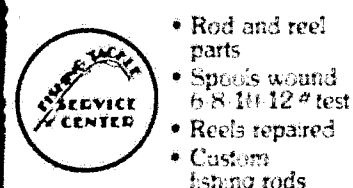

EXPRESSION OF THANKS

The family of Melva G. Willard wish to thank all who offered support in many ways through our time of sorrow. Particular gratitude is felt to Brendon and Jean Bass, Charles Pendleton, the BEARS, Jefferson Chapter of the Eastern Star, the Greenleaf Funeral Home, and the medical staff of the Special Care Unit of the Maine Medical Center. Individual expressions of sympathy makes this difficult time easier.

Thursday morning and the sun is supposed to shine today and looks as though it would. Hope no one has a sun stroke from seeing the sun. We did have quite a lot of sun for a short while but being back to the kind of weather we had most of the summer isn't my idea of good weather.

How fast the leaves are turning now, showing off their pretty colorful hues and letting all know the beauty of fall. I like to watch the leaves color on the different trees and see how fast they change. Sometimes, it is much too fast, for it means they will fall from the trees quicker and show their nakedness. However, I will enjoy the fall colors as long as I can and try to prepare myself for the winter that I know will be here before we know it.

Been having one of the bugs that are around but hope I have it beaten. My daughter had a bad cold or virus or something when I was down there last week and I got it from her. I can't seem to let anyone have a cold or virus without getting it, if I am around.

Russell has been cleaning out the garden as fast as he can and we have put up what vegetables we could. We have canned some and frozen some and still have some to freeze. We are watching, with interest, the peas that Russell planted during the summer. He had heard that peas are better that produce in the fall so planted some as soon as the first ones were through bearing. The peas are in bloom but we both wonder if they will pod and fill out without getting frozen on the vines. Russell said that if they didn't bear any peas, we could just cut them out our fall flower garden. I hope most people are having better luck with their tomatoes ripening than we are. There are a lot of them on the vines but they don't ripen as they should. Russell has dug under them with the shovel to cut or loosen the roots and hope that will help. We have known it to help in the past.

Was lucky to have some corn given to us by my son and put up quite a few packages of that to freeze. Every little bit will help this winter.

I made a couple of trips to Bethel to the doctor this past week as my doctor was on vacation in London and I can't go without back treatment. Russell went for a check up with his doctor the other day also.

I am sure many people will miss the chance to go see Dr. Cohen in Harrison. I was told that he has retired. He was a good nose, throat and ear doctor. I know he told me the last time I was over there that his wife wanted him to retire. His son, also, wanted him to retire. He treated in the old way and the treatment usually worked.

Haven't been visiting or anything lately nor had any company. We did go up and talk a little while with Grace and Lawrence this past weekend. I had made some pumpkin cake in loaves and took one up to them. Hoped it would help where Grace works all the time.

Got to get ready to go to Lewiston this morning to see the eye doctor. Haven't been for well over a year and my sight doesn't improve so guess it is time to see if the glasses need changing. Haven't heard any good news lately so none of that to write about.

Hope every one has a good week ahead for themselves. Fryeburg Fair starts and lots of folks will go to that, I am sure. I will wish them all a good time and good weather.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

I wished today to stand at the top of my highest hill to look at the world I adore. Watching from here I can see autumn flowing past. The woods are leoparded with flame and gold. There is orange down in the valley, crimson on the ridge, and yellow amongst the green on the mountains. Here I am alone with the fall, the pond, the trees, and the sky. I marvel at Nature so wondrous that brings joy to this place and peace which my heart searches for. Over many years I have become enthralled by all this splendor, this cherished scene which I'll remember. I have been a witness to the changing seasons here. Summer is gone. The fields no longer shimmer under blazing heat. This is Autumn, the new Chapter in the book of seasons. So I travel step by step, to the rhythm of nature through glorious October. The top of the hill is a pleasant place to dream at any time, but when October flings her colors across the valley nature is preparing to sleep. Now can one think of it as a sad time when it sleeps with such a beautiful countenance.

I stayed with the Halls for several days after my eye surgery. I am doing well but have a black eye even now. One friend, seeing me for the first time after surgery said, "I wonder what the other fellow looks like."

Little Brooks entertained at an early Christmas party at her farm in Woodstock on the 25th. Those attending were Avis Stellhorn, Louvie Coffin, Dorothy Ross, and cousin, Rose, Doris Slattery, Doris Hayes, and I.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt and I attended the Dexter-Fest Day in Dexter on Sept. 27. We spent the day with David Holt and attended many interesting events.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis took me to Portland on Sept. 24 to see my eye doctor.

Callers at Frank Curtis' have been Colista Cogswell, Freeport; Phil Bentley, Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Curtis, Norway; Albert Curtis and sons, Buckfield; Mildred Bowman, Hebron; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis, Carl Curtis, Denise Adams and daughter, Irene Stevens, Teresa Curtis, Martha Proctor, Eva Felton, Kathy Curtis, Local.

Callers at the Hayes Homestead were Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Hayes, Auburn; Duane Hayes and children, West Paris; Wallace Hayes, Local.

Frequent visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Pat DiArenzo's home are Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Notte and Mr. and Mrs. David Notte from Glendolen, Pa. They are staying at North Pond.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis were there on Sunday helping to get wood for the winter.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to Stoneham Rescue Team, Florence Merrill, Esther Sweetser, and especially to Jimmy and Christine Kimball for their help and support during Kelli's accident. Also to all those who have called.

THE BETHEL AREA HEALTH CENTER opened for business in its new quarters, in the remodeled A&P building on Railroad Street, this week. Above, director Shirley Powell (back to camera) gives a guided tour to members of the Bethel Rotary Club. Rotary was one of the many local donors to the half-million-dollar project, which is designed to provide more and better health services to Bethel area people.

Tri-Town Rescue

The auxiliary has raised $14,000 for the building project. They need your support to reach the goal of $20,000. Region 11 vocational students are busy every day building the outer walls.

The ambulance personnel have been very busy this week with a variety of serious calls. Tri-Town would like to thank the Woodstock, West Paris and Greenwood fire departments for their assistance in each of their towns.

The auxiliary meeting has been changed. It will meet the first Wednesday of the month while President Dorene Benson is taking the EMT course. This month they will meet Oct. 8 at 7 p.m. at the West Paris branch of the Bethel Savings Bank. They will finalize plans for a dance with Northern Atlantic providing the music Oct. 11 from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Locke Mills American Legion Hall.

The auxiliary will also sponsor a baked bean supper Oct. 18 prior to the Old Parisians dance in West Summer at the Grange Hall. Proceeds of both projects will go to the building fund.

Safety Tip of the Week

The fall foliage has attracted a large number of travelers in the area, who are driving at varying speeds. It is a nice time of the year. If everyone would drive with extra caution, we could all live to enjoy another year with the beautiful colors.

Seat belts don't help to turn and see the views, but they do save lives. So buckle up and be safe. A better way to get a good view is to stop the car, get out and look as long as you want at the scenic beauty. No one will hit you from behind that way.

Mr. and Mrs. Sayward Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Inman returned on Monday after a four day fishing and camping trip at Nesowadna-hunk Lake, close to Baxter State Park. The weather was great for this time of year. The mornings and nights were chilly, but the campfire kept us warm. The days warmed and it was really nice and not a drop of rain to dampen our spirits. A real good time was had by all.

Forward Fellowship group of the Universalist Church met on Monday night at Goodwill Hall with a small attendance. Mary Emery and Martha Day were on the supper committee. The final plans were made for the Shop 'n Save supper to be held on Oct. 8. Planning and coordinating is in charge of Mary Emery.

The shopping committee to gather the groceries is Mina Whittier, Martha Day and Cynthia Lamb. The kitchen committee is Joyce and Cynthia Lamb, June Demarest, Marian Chase, Edith Morey and Miriam Inman. Eleanor Inman is in charge of the tickets. Mary Emery, Dixie and Miriam Inman are on the committee to make plans with the Goodwill Group for the supper to be on Oct. 14. The next meeting will be at Goodwill Hall on Oct. 27.

Much sympathy is extended to the family of Stuart Thurlow who passed away suddenly.

Eleanor Hutchinson of Appleton and son Douglas Bickford of the U.S. Navy spent the day Monday with mother and grandmother Louvie Coffin. Doug was on leave from boot camp in Great Lakes, Mich. He leaves on Saturday for Georgia.

Robert E. Isley and his buddy spent the weekend with Robert's parents on the farm. They are in the Air Force, stationed in Rome, N.Y.

Harlan and Faye Abbott and their gang came home late Monday evening and they had lots of fish and they all had a good time. Had hot biscuits every day. Fish and biscuits are good enough for anyone.

Our sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Stuart Thurlow in his passing. Also to the family of Mrs. Irene Damon also of South Woodstock.

Jack Frost has sneaked in and started painting the foliage and every day there is a change. Joe and Eveline Vatcher rode up to Berlin, N.H., and down through to North Conway and Fryeburg Wednesday. They met several large buses of tourists. It will be beautiful to ride to Fryeburg Fair.

The apple orchards are being picked and we see the pickers go by every day with large truck loads of apples. Joe Vatcher visited Coopers (at Trask farm) and Chris wanted to put him to work. Joe had a hard job to convince him he was retired.

The "Old Parisians" are planning an interesting evening of dining and dancing Oct. 18 at the West Summer Grange Hall. The proceeds will benefit Tri-Town Ambulance and Rescue and the heart and cancer funds. It's where old and new friends meet.

Best wishes to Colista Morgan on her recent eye surgery.

Joe Kalinowski was host for a birthday bash at Big Rock farm Sept. 22. Guests were Root and Doris Lawrence, Albert and Marietta Penley, Herman and Thelma Card and Mione Record. Carroll Record was unable to attend as he went to Stephens Memorial Hospital that day. A delicious supper was served.

Callers at Lawrences: Joe Kalinowski, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Heath, Mione Record, Albert Penley Sr., Rhoda Labbe and Cornie, Joe Vatcher, Eva Judkins, Ellen Coffin.

Arnold Coffin has an appointment with his doctor Sept. 28 and he is hoping that the feeding tube will be removed from his stomach soon.

See you at Fryeburg Fair. Let's have a week of nice weather and beautiful foliage.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The annual "What's It" will be featured at the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society to be held on Thursday, Oct. 2, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone with a "What's It" he or she wishes to share with those attending the meeting is cordially invited to do so. A new Williamsburg film, "A Glorious System of Things" will follow the "What's It" portion of the program.

Society Director Stanley R. Howe attended the annual meeting of the Maine League of Historical Societies and Museums this year held in Augusta on Sept. 27. During the business portion of the meeting held at the State Capitol he was re-elected a league trustee. Luncheon was held at the Blaine House and was attended by several of Maine's former governors. Governor Brennan, the current occupant of the Executive Mansion, received the first copy of a forthcoming set of the inaugural addresses of Maine's chief executives.

The 1986 Society Endowment Campaign took another stride forward recently. It is now near the $6,000 level with 267 individuals and businesses assisting in reaching this year's goal of $8,500. The most recent donors include: Patricia Moon, Denver, Colo., in honor of Nathan Rice Twitchell; Edward L. and Mary A. Mills, Locke Mills; Dr. John and Margaret Trinward, Bethel; Edleen Winslow, Charlie's Place, Bethel, in honor of Esther Williamson; Keith B. and Suzanne S. Bartlett, Bethel; Shirley B. and Marilyn D. Gilbert, West Bethel; Hazel F. O'Donnell, Newtonville, Mass., in memory of Wallace Lewis Farwell; Dr. Richard and Catherine Bush, Belmont, Mass. Much appreciation is expressed to these individuals and businesses for making this progress possible.

The annual Homecoming Days will be held this weekend, Oct. 4-5. The Dr. Moses Mason House will be decorated with harvest baskets and autumn arrangements and will be open on Saturday, noon to 3 p.m., and on Sunday, noon to 2 p.m. The slide lecture on Gould Academy's 150 years by Society Director Stanley R. Howe will be given at the Dr. Moses Mason House at 1 p.m. on Sunday. Tours of the house will be available both Saturday and Sunday.

Gould Academy celebrates 150 years

(A special supplement of The Bethel Citizen)

Gould began as town school, with 3 faculty & 91 students

As Gould Academy celebrates its Sesquicentennial Year on Alumni Weekend, Oct. 3-5, 1986, there is, like Janus—the two-faced Roman God of Gates and Doors—looking back from whence we've come and looking forward to where we're going among those concerned with the institution founded in 1835 by the 13 men who served as trustees of Bethel High School.

The first principal was Nathaniel Tuckerman True, then a student at Bowdoin College. He was assisted by two teachers in three departments: classical, high English and general English.

From the beginning, Bethel High School was co-educational, with a total of 91 students attending at some time during the first three terms. Other Maine academies with beginnings similar to Gould's that continue today include Fryeburg, Kents Hill, Hebron and George Stevens, in Blue Hill.

An act to incorporate Bethel Academy was passed by the Maine Legislature and approved by Governor Robert P. Dunlap on January 27, 1836, nearly 40 years after the incorporation of Bethel.

In 1842, Bethel's first settled minister and a soldier of the American Revolution, the Reverend Daniel Gould, died, leaving his entire estate, estimated at several thousand dollars, to Bethel Academy, provided that the name be changed to Gould's Academy. Charges of mismanaging his estate, which delayed the proceedings, came to nothing, and Gould ultimately received $632.00. (The "s" was dropped from the name of the school, and it became "Gould Academy," in 1924.)

In 1849 the teaching staff at Gould's Classical and English Academy, once again headed by Principal True (tenure 1848-1861), had grown to include four assistant teachers, a teacher of penmanship and a teacher of drawing and painting. The student body had increased by about 20 in the various spring, summer and fall courses.

The 1849 catalog defined the school's purpose under courses of study:

The peculiar location of the institution seems to require particular attention to the following subjects viz: Classical Learning - A systematic and elevated course of Female Education - Education of Teachers for Common Schools - and Preparation of Young Men for the Counting Room.

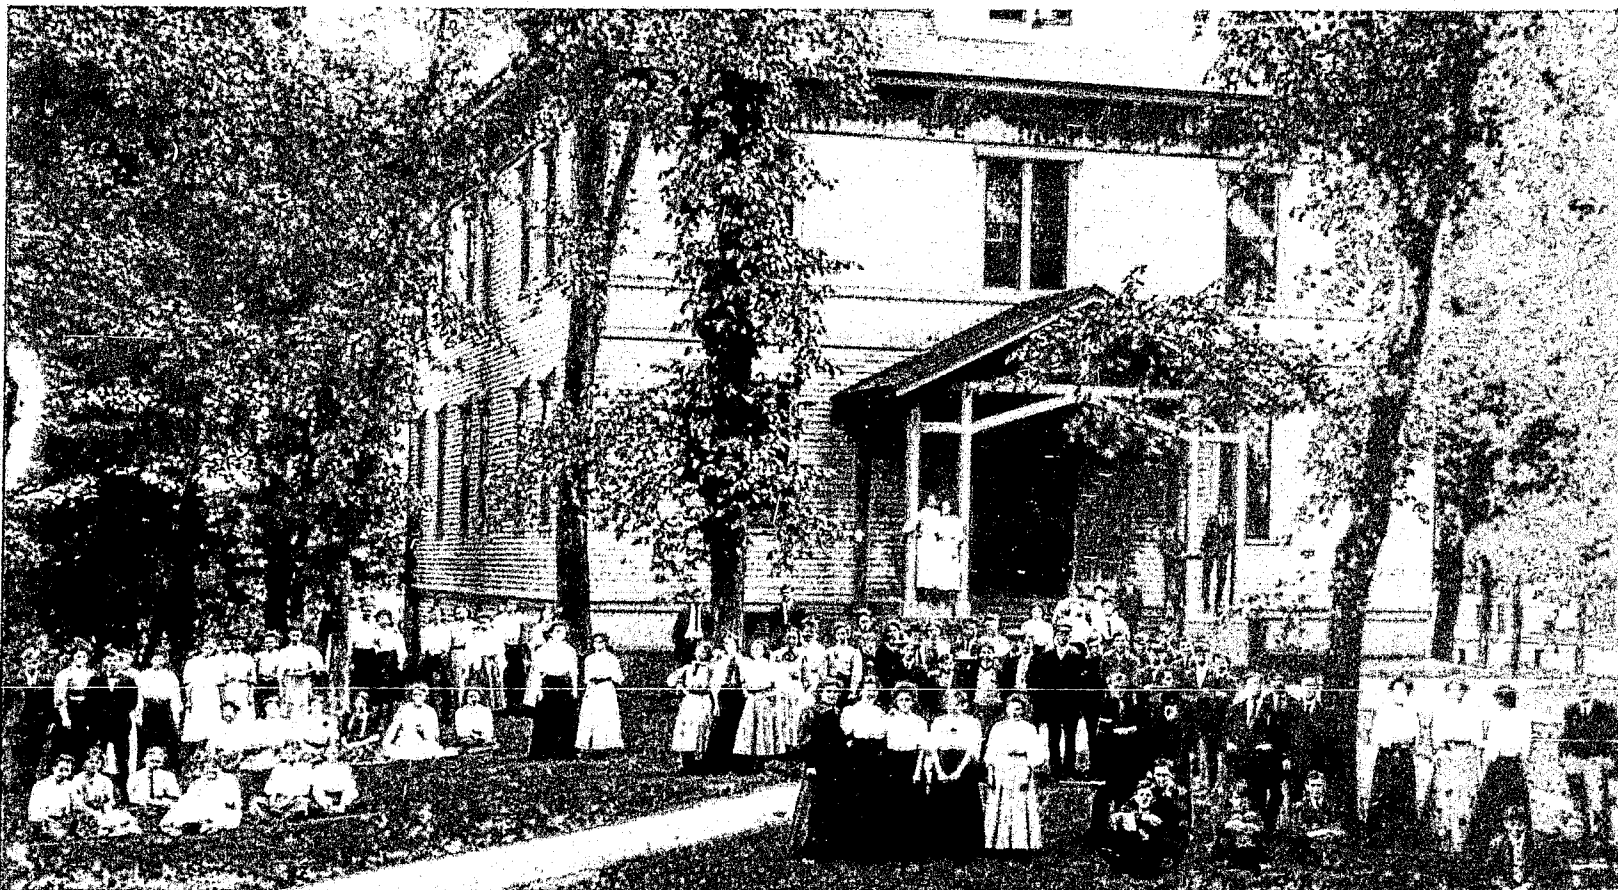

There were short exercises in vocal music every morning in connection with Religious Exercises. Tuition was $2.50 to $3.50 per term and board in the village ranged from $1.00 to $1.50 per week.

The 1849 Gould's catalog, seeking to entice students and parents, gives the following description of Bethel:

The Academy is situated in the delightful village of Bethel Hill. The student will find everything that can be expected in a village to render his situation pleasant. The surrounding country is exceedingly romantic, presenting views of great interest to the lover of nature. Few villages can be found so well calculated to preserve the morals of students. Stages connect with the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad, arriving on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Also, on the same days from Portland, by way of Waterville.

Morals were of great concern during these years, as the 1854 catalog attests, and some evidently fell short:

We wish it, however, to be distinctly understood, that this school is not designed as a House of Reformation. It is therefore desirable, that, such as have children who are unwilling to comply with the regulations of the school, or with parental authority, should send them to a Family, or Reform School.

By 1863 the school had a "well-selected" library of several hundred volumes. A portion of each Wednesday afternoon was occupied in declamation by the gentlemen and selected reading by the ladies, a contrast to Wednesday afternoons in 1986, which are occupied in seasonal sports by both sexes.

Moral development continued as a concern, and good moral character as the only condition of admission. It was not until 1908-1909 that candidates would need to submit testimonials of good character and their school record with admission application.

The 1863 catalog states: The government of the school will be mild, but firm; and of such character as to lead to habits of promptness, method, industry, and order.

Boarding, originally necessitated by slow horse-and-buggy travel to Bethel from outlying towns, was gradually formalized in dormitory housing. As early as the 1840s boarding students came from Portland and Massachusetts. The first dormitory was presented in 1909 by Liberty E. Holden, a student in Dr. True's day and owner of the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In 1903 alumnus Liberty E. Holden became the school's first major benefactor with a gift of $300, which was used to put water closets in the Academy's building and connect them with the town sewer, laid along Main Street in 1902. He followed this with the purchase of a residence for the principal and his family, plus $1,000 to put it in proper repair.

In 1909, a $19,000 Holden property investment—in a substantial house, barn and two acres adjoining the Academy—became living accommodations for 30

Sesquicentennial Weekend - Schedule of Events

Over a year in the planning, Gould's Sesquicentennial Alumni Day will be the biggest alumni day in the school's history.

Designed to incorporate history, appreciation and joyful celebration of beloved alma mater, alums from far away and here at home will gather on campus especially for Saturday, Oct. 4, and special events scheduled from 8:30 a.m. 'til after midnight.

Following continental breakfast, alums and family can choose between the Alumni Fun Run or Stan Howe's narrated slide show, "Gould, the First 150."

At 11:30 a.m. Alumni Association President Marcia Savage McGee '61, together with friends of Jane Greig Barth '59, will dedicate and present to Gould its newest structure, the Jane Greig Barth '59 Memorial Bell Tower. (See accompanying article.)

A Grand Parade of Classes, to Farnsworth Fieldhouse, led by Alumnus-of-the-Year (Esborn) Oscar Judkins '11 will precede the Alumni Luncheon and Annual Meeting of the Gould Academy Alumni Association. This parade, with class leaders waving the class numerals in descending order of seniority, from Oscar's 1911 to this year's Gould seniors—the soon-to-be freshmen alums as the Class of 1987—will march to the music of Jim Bennett's '61 Norwich University Jazz Band.

The major event of the luncheon will be recognition of the central role played by past and present Gould faculty in creating the academy, which stirs such pride and affection in its alums. It will be an occasion to toast and thank devoted faculty from past years and to appreciate the faculty who carry on the academy mission so ably today.

There are afternoon sports events scheduled and a Headmaster's Reception in the Farnsworth Fieldhouse at 4:30 p.m. This year the reception and the banquet are combined events, with a ticket to the banquet being necessary for admission to the reception.

Honorees at the Alumni Banquet are the Class of 1936, who will receive their 50-year diplomas and mortarboards at this event. This class was the graduating class at Gould's centennial celebration. Since their graduation was overshadowed by centennial recognition, the Alumni Association has special fanfare planned for this group.

Following the pomp, circumstance and fun of launching the Class of 1936, Caroline Seavey Herrick '60, with husband Malcolm and assistants, will launch the 150th fireworks display on Alumni field. All of Bethel is welcome to attend this event, which should occur at approximately 8:30 p.m.

Festivities will continue at an Alumni Dance, again featuring Jim Bennett's '61 band, at the Bethel Inn Conference Center. Here alums can dance the decades away until Jim packs up the band. After that, reunion classes are on their own, but all alums are welcome to bring their partners and/or themselves to this event.

Special sesquicentennial tee shirts are available for all who register for the full day's events and cacheted envelopes, with appropriate stamps, will be available for the special 150th commemorative cancellation at the U.S. Postal Service Sesquicentennial Station, Gayland Doon '50, postmaster.

Members of the Gould Academy Alumni Board will be on hand throughout the weekend to host all events and assist the weary or bewildered. The Sesquicentennial Weekend Committee is chaired by Tom Hamilton '64. It is his hope that everyone will have as much fun participating in the weekend as the committee has had in the anticipation and planning. Gouldies, put on your blue and gold with a "rah, rah, rah, sis-boom-bah!" and be there Alumni Day 1986!

Bell tower to be dedicated this Alumni Day, October 4th

A special project completed for dedication of Gould Academy's Sesquicentennial Alumni Day, Oct. 4, is a brick bell tower housing the Academy's original school bell.

The tower is located between Bingham Auditorium and Holden Hall, within sight of the athletic fields. From this site the bell will be rung joyously to celebrate victories in athletic contests and on other significant occasions.

Alumnus Eric Wight '59, a major contributor to the tower's planning and construction, will be the first to ring the bell in its new location to proclaim—with 150 reverberations—Sesquicentennial Alumni Day.

The tower began its official existence as an idea of the Gould Academy Alumni Association Board. On Sept. 21, 1984, the Board passed a motion that the Alumni Association president appoint a committee to oversee the raising of funds required to erect a permanent place for Gould Academy's original school bell and that this place be dedicated in loving memory of Jane Greig Barth '59 at the commencement of the 150th celebration on Alumni Weekend.

Gould has buildings dedicated to former-Headmaster Frank E. Hanscom and several notable trustees, but recognition of Jane Barth symbolizes alumni loyalty, spirit and service to the school.

Jane was popular and active throughout her four years as a student at Gould—class vice-president, girls' Athletic Association Council treasurer, as well as head cheerleader her senior year, a member of the National Honor Society, involved in various musical, sports and outdoor activities and for three years on the Blue and Gold newspaper staff and editorial board of the Herald (yearbook).

Following college, at Forsyth Dental School, she married Alvin Barth '54 and returned to Gould as a faculty wife in 1961. During this period she served several terms on the Alumni Board. She is the mother of two sons: Karl, who graduated from Gould in 1984, and Bruce, a 1985 Telstar graduate.

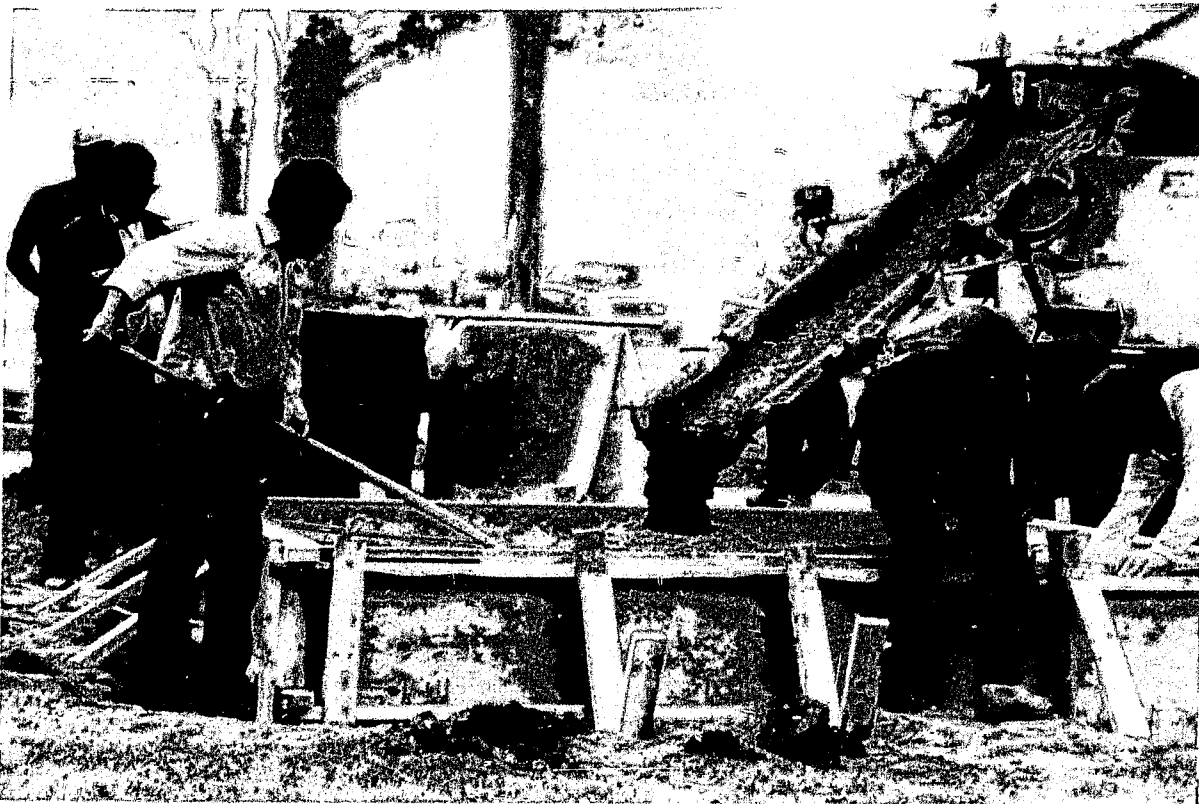

In her roles as faculty wife and Gould parent, unobtrusive service and concern for others are the characteristics cited by all who were privileged to have known her. There is also memory of her vitality and infectious spirit.

The affection for Jane, which continues in honoring her memory, is amply attested by the number of Bethel friends, alumni and family who have volunteered labor, materials and expertise in erecting the bell tower.

These include: Harlan Hutchins '34, bell tower concept; Therrian Architects and Walker Cain, technical assistance; bronze plaque, a gift from Royden A. Keddy '39 and his wife Alice '44; Jane's brother, Jack Greig '59, supplied backhoe and labor; Bob Chadbourne '60 and Les Otten, cement; Robert Lowell, bricks and materials; David Brown '65, carpentry; Maynard Morgan '64, gravel and fill; Avery Angevine, forms; Arnel Brown '62, metal work; Neil Donovan, brick mason, has been on the job nearly full-time; his helpers include—in addition to Eric Wight—Al Barth '54, John Todd '60, Bill Cousins, Jim Fiske, Edward Daye, Al Sumner '59, David Head '58, and several current Gould students. Norman St. Hilaire, Auburn, donated the slate roof.

All of Jane's friends and family are especially invited to be present at the Bell Tower's dedication, 11:30 a.m., Oct. 4, on the Gould campus.

POURING THE FOUNDATION for Gould Academy's Memorial Bell Tower are Al Sumner '59, Ed Daye and Neil Donovan, as Maynard Morgan '64 looks on.

Best Wishes for continued success as an educational and community institution.

girls and 25 boys as Holden Hall. The Academy Herald stated that "Holden Hall shall give happiness, protection and home care to the young strangers who seek an education in the walls of Gould's Academy."

The present dormitory buildings are a legacy of William Bingham II, who came to Bethel from Ohio, in 1887, to be near his physician, Dr. George Gehring. Dr. Gehring had established a clinic in town, taking advantage of the peaceful Bethel environment in his psychotherapeutic treatments, which included a rigorous schedule of work and physical exercise.

The Gehring Mansion, where he lived and worked, is located next to the golf course on Broad Street and now houses the National Training Laboratories. Mr. Bingham's house was the neighboring green shingled residence.

Dr. Gehring's wife, Marian True Gehring, was the daughter of Gould's first principal. The dormitory named Marian True Gehring Student Home still houses female students as well as the school's dining facilities. Mrs. Gehring established the 20th Century Club to teach manners, social graces and correct behavior to the young ladies and gentlemen of the Academy. Organized in 1920, the Club motto was "To look up, to love, to laugh, to lift." The Club colors were purple "for strong manhood" and white "for pure womanhood."

Headmasters, other than Dr. True, who figure prominently in Gould's history include Dr. Frank E. Hanscom, 1897-1936; Elwood F. Ireland, 1940-1959; Edmond J. Vachon, 1959-1967. In the 36 years between the end of Dr. True's administration and the beginning of Dr. Hanscom's, the Academy had 24 principals, 17 of whom were graduates of Bowdoin College.

The job was too ill-paid to entice either a young college graduate or a career educator to remain for long at Gould's Academy. The principal collected and kept the tuition and was paid $100 a year. Out of this income he had to pay his assistants, heat the Academy building and support himself and his family.

In 1884 A.S. Twitchell organized a reunion of Dr. True's students. The plan carried out had two sessions, one at the Academy in the afternoon and the second in the evening at the Congregational Church. At the beginning of the first session, Dr. True, who had by this time suffered a stroke, was carried in on the shoulders of former pupils. The entertainment included long speeches and a poem in heroic couplets, which dealt with the joys and pangs of youth and took about 30 minutes to deliver. These speeches were interspersed with music and remarks from presiding officer Honorable Enoch Foster, an Academy trustee, and Dr. True.

In 1897 Dr. Frank Edward Hanscom embarked on a stretch of 39 years as Gould's principal. He arrived at Gould with 11 years' administrative experience, in contrast to the numerous short-timers fresh from college. From the beginning, he sought the interest of the Academy's graduates, the Bethel community and the wider community in the state of Maine, a course pursued and expanded to seeking national and international interest by present administrators of the Academy.

As one means of reaching alumni and friends, Dr. Hanscom used the twice-yearly magazine Academy Herald whose first issue of 1897-1898 had a column of WANTS (readers who would say a good word for the school, library books, especially reference books, gymnasium equipment, apparatus for the chemistry and physics laboratory). One of Gould's continuing events, begun in Dr. Hanscom's first year, was the School Walk, in October, now a surprise Mountain Day declared by the headmaster. Enrollment grew (118 in 1902) and activities increased, including football, baseball, and a sport popular with the girls—basketball.

The Class of 1900 inaugurated the wearing of caps and gowns at graduation exercises. At Gould's, besides sporting events, there were "socials," dramatics, public speaking and an annual afternoon fair followed by supper to raise money for school needs.

In 1903 Mr. Hanscom put together and published a book of Bible readings "for the use of Teachers and Schools" in morning exercises. Mr. Hanscom's morning exercises also included a few minutes devoted to the study of Parliamentary Law, one of his particular interests.

During the summer of 1900 a great gathering of alumni at Bethel was reported in the Bethel News as "Old Gould's Greatest Day." Lunch was served in a tent on the Common to 800, followed by an afternoon session of speeches lasting four hours. An auctioning of "stock" in Gould's future netted $5,642 in cash and pledges. The auctioneer, Captain Robbins Grover '1859, magnanimously pledged the gift of a dormitory to Gould's when enrollment reached 150.

By 1919, following World War I, Gould's was in serious financial difficulty, but ultimately rescued, with Dr. and Mrs. Gehring's influence and Mr. Hanscom's direction by Mr. Bingham, who agreed to supplement and support a comprehensive program with annual financial aid. In May of 1921, when Mr. Hanscom announced construction of a new gymnasium, the news set off cheering, according to the Lewiston paper, a mass meeting and athletic rally and a "procession which marched around the town, singing the school songs, giving the school yells and cheering the faculty and trustees of the institution. At each stopping place, the heartiest cheer of all was given for Mr. William Bingham, the donor of the proposed gymnasium."

The curriculum expanded into domestic arts, manual training and organized physical training, with a faculty grown from four to seven.

In 1940, Elwood F. Ireland began a 19-year reign as headmaster, followed by his friend and colleague, Edmond J. Vachon, who retired in 1967.

Mr. Ireland was a conscientious, hard-working man of integrity with an abiding interest in young people. Mr. Vachon, in his role as senior master and later as headmaster, was energetic, well-organized, and talented in winning the confidence of students and faculty.

He instituted the practice of regularly scheduled faculty meetings, a step toward shared leadership. During the first year of the Ireland-Vachon administration, the Farnsworth Field House was built—at that time superior to any secondary school facility in the country. It was dedicated to Dr. George B. Farnsworth, trustee from 1930 to 1947, Marian True Gehring's son and Dr. True's grandson. The field house blends magnificently with its Mahosuc backdrop and exhibits the architectural concern invested in all Academy buildings.

During this period under Mr. Ireland's influence, music had a strong place in the curriculum, with orchestra and glee club performing in the Western Maine and New England music festivals and classes in music appreciation. The Chapman Club, named in honor of Bethel's premier musician, William Rogers Chapman, founder of the Maine Music Festival, was added to the Academy's musical activities in 1943 to encourage solo performances and small group ensembles. Mr. Ireland himself was a talented singer.

There was an enrollment of over 250 in Mr. Ireland's first year. World War II had some impact on Gould's faculty and students, with Mr. Vachon returning from the service as a major and James D. Alger '30, a graduate of West Point, serving as a lieutenant-colonel commanding a tank battalion. Miss Eva Bean, in her "History," prepared an honor roll of 375 graduates and Gould faculty who served in that conflict. Gas rationing caused some difficulty in carrying out the sports schedules, though athletics continued.

In 1957 the Sinclair Act was passed by the Maine Legislature to encourage small and medium-sized high schools to combine into School Administrative Districts. This led to the opening of Bethel's Telstar Regional High School in 1968 and several years of difficult decisions for Gould's future in which alternatives—Gould as a comprehensive high school, a junior college, a branch of the University of Maine—were finally abandoned with the decision that Gould become an independent boarding school. Early in Mr. Vachon's tenure, courses in arts and crafts developed to include sketching, ceramics, painting, woodworking, sculpture and jewelry. These courses continue as a strong department in the college preparatory offerings. The forestry course lapsed during this period, but is currently reinstated.

Many individuals had become long-term Gould faculty by this period—Clayton Fossett, Gayle A. Foster, Theodore Emery, Ordell Anderson, George Bowhay, Vance Richardson, Joe Roderick, Robert Scott, David Thompson, Verna Swift; and others were on their way to becoming stalwarts—William Cousins, Frank Vogt, Francis Berry, Paul Kailey, James Owen, Dorothy Boyce, Nellie Macdougall Parks, Alvin Barth.

All these, and other faculty of shorter tenure, had, and continue to have, plenty to do in addition to teaching—coaching, dormitory assignments, advising extracurricular activities and student groups.

Currently, Gould accommodates 225 students and is near capacity with present dorm space. These students are served by administrators in admissions, alumni/development and business operations.

Among the 30 faculty members are nurses, a librarian, athletic director and guidance counselor, in addition to classroom teachers. Other school staff provide food service and buildings and grounds maintenance and repair. It's a complex organization compared to Gould beginnings.

In this brief history mention should be made of many players: Wilbur Myers, bursar and business manager for over 40 years; Linwood "Lindy" Lowell, a member of Gould's maintenance staff for 39 years; Paul C. Thurston, trustee from 1933 to 1963, whose son Murray has been a trustee since 1961; William M. Throop, Jr., a trustee since 1961, who represents the Bingham interest in Gould; Sidney W. Davidson, trustee from 1935 to 1971; Robert D. Hastings, a trustee from 1937 to 1975.

Many people associated with Gould have remained with the institution through significant changes in direction and through periods of financial strain. Barbara Merrill, currently controller, started as a secretary-bookkeeper immediately following her graduation in 1956. Polly Davis, the headmaster's secretary, an alumnae of the Class of 1945, has been employed at Gould since July 1959. Maynard Morgan, Class of 1964, now in his 13th year at Gould, followed his father in maintenance employment advancing to maintenance supervisor.

Gould instills a deep loyalty in its alumni and long-term employees because they give so much of themselves to assure the institution's survival and because of the sense of purpose and idealism elicited in following Gould's central precept—"To thine own self be true"—while living and working intimately for the betterment of all.

The headmasters who thrive at Gould are the ones concerned with the school's welfare rather than their personal advancement. It takes sincere belief in altruistic principles to inspire the loyalty of other players—trustees, faculty, administrators, business and buildings operators, students. A common thread expressed by alums is that despite academic struggles or adolescent rebellions, Gould provided successful ideals for dealing with adult realities.

Gould begins the unknown of the next 150 years with 150 of growth affected by the strength of its situation in the Bethel community and the social history of the country, which has influenced educational goals and human relationships—male-female roles, authority versus consensus in management styles—through reinterpretation of values in relationships. Gould's current headmaster, William P. Clough III, has the ability to analyze and interpret goals for 1986 and the future, which inspire dedicated teaching and concern for the institution. Students and faculty respond to his calls for "risk-taking."

Twenty-one of the current 30 trustees are Gould alums. All current trustee officers are alums—President Alan Orinway '58, Vice President Elizabeth Poulh '43, Treasurer David Hawkes '61, Secretary Carolyn W. Harrison '41, Member-at-Large Murray Thurston '31. When alumni bring their talents for management, administration, teaching, and hard work to Gould, they recognize the need for global as well as community perspective, the inclusion of youths enthusiasm and age's experience, alums and non-alums to vitalize the Gould community. Gould is a continuing experiment as well as past and present reality.

Mrs. Violet Swain has been incapacitated this week with a painful ankle and foot.

Mrs. Colleen Jaros, Andover, returned home this week after being a patient at Rumford Community Hospital. On Thursday, Sept. 25 she was taken back to the hospital by ambulance.

Mrs. Cecil Abbott returned home on Thursday, after being a surgical patient at the Rumford Community Hospital. A wish for a speedy recovery for all three of these ladies.

A letter from the Bethel Area Health Center states the following: "For the convenience of our Andover neighbors, a flu clinic will be held on Thursday, Oct. 9, from 12:30 to 2:00 at the First Congregational Church." Because the cost of the vaccine has increased, the charge for the flu shot will be $7. Flu shots are covered by Medicaid. The Northern Oxford Health and Service Council will provide flu shots for those who are needy and do not have Medicaid.

How fast the color of the tree leaves have changed this week. Mother Nature and friends have certainly given us a most beautiful, beautiful, and breathtaking display. In talking with hikers who have come in from the Appalachian Trail, they too, have enjoyed the fast changing beauty around them. The autumn colors, like a sunset, can never be duplicated by an artist's brush.

On Tuesday, Sept. 23, the Ladies Aid Society met at the CEB. A short business meeting was followed by an enlightening presentation by Rev. Marriotte Churchill on yet another woman of the Bible, Deborah. Many items were brought in for the knitting table. The meeting closed with a delightful potluck luncheon.

I expect lots of folks will be attending Fryburg Fair this week. It's been 10 years since I went last but I have no real desire to go this year. The traffic and crowds are too much. I do hope it is a good week, weatherwise, and for all those who go, I wish you all a safe and fun trip.

Notes from Adult & Community Education

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program completed its first week of classes during the week of Sept. 22. Director Cathy Newell reported that excellent enrollments have been received with the most popular offerings to date being Welding, Woodworking, Basketry, Typing, Art Appreciation, Basketry, Jewelry-Making, Computers and Chair Seating. She added that it is still possible to join many of the classes and that those who are interested in joining should call the Adult Education office, 824-2780, for information.

Several SAD #44 area employers are recognizing the possibilities that exist in using adult education classes as training opportunities for their employees. At the request of Prim's Pharmacy, a session of The Maine Code has been scheduled for Oct. 20 and 21. This is a course for servers and sellers in the responsible handling of alcoholic beverages, and indicates good faith on the part of employers in complying with the provisions of the recently revised Dram Shop Law. Trainers from CMVTI will present the 8-hour course from 6 to 10 p.m. at Telstar Regional High School, at the request of Mrs. Newell. The enrollment in this session of the class is limited to 20. If necessary, additional sessions will be scheduled. To enroll call the Adult Education office, 824-2780.

A number of carpentry workers at Sunday River have enrolled in the Home Renovation course taught on Tuesday evenings at Telstar by Lloyd Williams of the buildings trade staff at NOVA. This course will cover the safe and efficient use of hand and power tools, and has been adapted from its original "handyman" focus to meet the need for more formal carpentry skills on the part of class members. Tina LaFleur, NOVA Adult Education Director and Cathy Newell of SAD #44 have cooperated in offering this course.

In addition, according to Mrs. Newell, many individuals are enrolled in courses such as Typing, Accounting, and Computers at the suggestion of their employers. Over 30 SAD #44 teachers are taking a special recertification course, Computers for the Teacher.

Several courses are meeting for the first time during the week of Sept. 29. These include Photography, Exercise, Land Use Ordinances, and Small Business Series. The topic for the Homebuyers class on Sept. 30 was the role of the appraiser in the homebuying process.

Anyone interested in joining any of the classes in SAD #44 Adult and Community Education should call the office, 824-2780.

A very rewarding benefit supper was held Saturday evening at the Albany church for the Hausman-Rogers family. A lost pie plate of ceramic with pumpkin pie recipe imprinted may be picked up at the home of Christine Kimball.

Many are enjoying the beautiful foliage through this area along Route 5, down the Valley Road and up Hunt's Corner Road. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lescault and Mark Jr. spent the day Monday with his parents in West Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kimball returned home from Portland Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dean returned Friday to their home in Virginia after visiting relatives here a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Butler of Millinocket were recent visitors of friends here.

Sonny Kimball was painfully bruised while working on his truck, when it rolled backwards. He is resting at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway.

SMALL BUSINESS COURSE AT SAD #44

"Should I go into business? Should I start a business? Should I stay in business? Should I buy a business?" Those are the questions that a three-session seminar, co-sponsored by SCORE/ACE Chapter 479, the Small Business Administration, and SAD #44 Adult and Community Education, will help individuals to answer. According to Stan Gates of SCORE/ACE, the sessions will provide information to help individuals in small business or who are contemplating starting a business beat the odds which work against small business success. Over 50 percent of small businesses fail in the first two years, and over 90 percent are no longer in existence after 10 years. Solid information and planning can help reduce these odds and the instructors for the seminar sessions are all individuals who have extensive background in small business.

Topics for the seminars are: Knowing Your Market, covering location, competition, and needs; Management, including understanding budgeting, sale projections, costs, personnel management, and buying a business; and the Business Plan, including financial planning, projections, and securing loan. Sessions are to be held at Telstar Regional High School on Thursday evenings from 6:30-8:30. To enroll, call the Adult Education Office, 824-2780.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Here is a description of Windsor Castle—

"He took her to Windsor, and for a while they wandered around the town. He showed her the Castle, that had been built on a site chosen by William the Conqueror. It had first become a royal residence in the reign of Henry the First, and there were additions dating from that time until the reign of Queen Victoria. The Lower Ward, containing St. George's Chapel, was now the burial place of royalty. The Middle Ward contained the famous Round Tower, and the Upper Ward the state apartments and the Sovereign's private apartments. The great Park boasted thousands of acres. It was all there to be handed down to posterity. This, with the royal family, the inheritance of a nation."

—Margaret Pargeter

Kenneth Buck of Bethel has donated a very handsome chest to the historical society.

Bob and Norma Davis have donated some paper materials to the museum.

The Woodstock Museum is now closed for the season. We thank all those who have visited and viewed the society's collections. Attendance increased dramatically this year.

Development pressure spurs land use course

Planning board members, town officials, and interested citizens will participate in a three-session seminar on Land Use Ordinances offered at Telstar Regional High School in Bethel and co-sponsored by SAD #44 Adult and Community Education and the Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments (AVCOG). John A. Maloney of AVCOG will be the instructor for the course, according to Cathy Newell, director of Adult and Community Education for SAD #44. Mr. Maloney has been a planner with AVCOG since 1976, and is currently senior land use planner. He has responsibility for the agency's land use planning activities including comprehensive plan development and review and technical assistance to planning boards, code enforcement officers, and boards of appeal. He is also charged with responsibility for work on river corridor management plans and federally required environmental assessments. He is the author of several publications on planning board responsibilities.

Mrs. Newell announced that the Land Use Ordinance class will meet on Oct. 1, 15, and 19 and that over 25 enrollments have been received so far. "Good-sized delegations are being sponsored by the towns of Bethel, Greenwood and Newry," she added. "It is also encouraging that many citizens who are not town officials have enrolled, indicating a concern for future planning in this area." There is a small registration fee and to enroll call the Adult Education office, 824-2789.

Specific topics for the seminars are Legal Framework, covering the authority under which planning boards operate, and the Comprehensive Planning Process; Development Guidance Tools, including subdivision regulations, zoning ordinances, and building codes; Application Review Process and enforcement. The seminars will discuss the most commonly used devices to guide and regulate development, and will present several non-traditional options for land use control. Legal counsel from Maine Municipal Association will be present to serve as a resource at the first workshop.

Mrs. Grace Nelson took me for a foliage ride Saturday. We went on the road by Read Grover's place. I was surprised to see what a lovely place he has. Not only his home, but the location is superb, as there is such a lovely background of trees. He also has a beautiful setter puppy, which I would love to have taken home with me.

I reported in last week's paper that Isma Bachelier of Florida was visiting here, but after arriving she was taken suddenly ill and had to go back.

Many from here attended the Bennett auction at Bethel Saturday (Sept. 20).

Mrs. Geneva Tripp took me to Bridgton Friday. On our way home we called at Pillsbury's and got some apples.

Mrs. Grace Nelson and Mrs. Gertrude Yemima went to the North Conway Plaza shopping Friday.

Oral history workshop to be held at Bethel Nov. 1

Dr. Stanley R. Howe, director of the Bethel Historical Society, announced this week that the society will host one of the six workshops being conducted around the State of Maine this fall by Edward D. Ives, professor of folklore at the University of Maine and director of the Northeast Archives of Folklore and Oral History on the subject of oral history, the gathering of historical information through tape recorded interviews.

The workshop is designed to bring together both those familiar with the oral history process and those who are considering its use in an ongoing or future project. A 30 minute videotape produced especially for the workshop will be shown. Following the videotape, Dr. Ives will lead a discussion of the techniques, equipment, problems and uses of oral history fieldwork. Workshops participants will also receive a free general field work manual and interview guide. Support for this and all the other free workshops has been provided by the Maine Humanities Council and Champion International Corporation.

These workshops are one aspect of a yearlong project in the humanities that builds on the public enthusiasm for "Stump to Ship," Alfred Ames' 1930s logging film that was shown last year throughout the state. This follow-up project, "The Oral History Process at Work," began with tape-recorded interviews with former woodsmen/river drivers from the Machias River Region, some of whom were present when Ames made his historic film in the 1930s.

In addition to the oral history videotape, which follows Ives through his interviews with the river drivers, the project includes the production of a documentary videotape, due for broadcast early next year, that takes a closer look at the lives of the men and women who lived through the days when the long logs were taken "from stump to ship."

The workshop in Bethel will be held in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, Nov. 1, at 2 p.m. For further information, please call the Bethel Historical Society at 824-2908.

Hunters urged to limit deer liver consumption

With Maine's deer hunting season soon to begin, the state is advising hunters to limit the amount the deer liver they eat.

The Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife and the state Bureau of Health recommend that deer liver consumption be limited to 0.8 pounds in one sitting and 1 to 1½ pounds per week because of possible contamination with the heavy metal cadmium.

The agencies have also cautioned the state's one thousand moose hunting permit holders not to eat any moose liver or kidney, for the same reason.

There is no apparent health risk from eating deer meat or moose meat.

Similar warnings were issued last year in Maine, following the lead of several Canadian provinces and Scandinavian countries where cadmium had been discovered in liver and kidneys of several species of wild and domestic animals.

State Toxicologist Robert A. Frakes says that cadmium concentrations in deer liver samples taken last year were comparable to concentrations in deer, elk, and cattle in other parts of the country, but moose livers had higher concentrations, probably because moose live longer.

Cadmium is ingested with the animal's food, and accumulates in their liver and kidney over time. The longer they live, the more they accumulate.

Scientists are not certain of the source of cadmium in the environment, or how long it may have been accumulating in animals' organs before it was discovered.

Symptoms of acute cadmium poisoning include severe nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, muscle cramps, and salivation.

LOCAL DEMOCRATIC DOINGS

The Bethel Democrats will hold a campaign planning meeting at the home of Town Chairman Paul McGuire on Winter Street in Bethel on Sunday, Oct. 5, at 8 p.m. Agenda items will include planning for the fall campaigns, an update on the activities of the Tierney for Governor campaign, and the re-election efforts of Rep. Jeff Mills and other county Democratic candidates. Anyone who would like to help out in any way between now and Nov. 4 should plan to attend the meeting.

Anyone who would like further information, or who will be unable to attend the Sunday night meeting should contact Mr. McGuire at 824-2385, Rep. Mills at 824-3290, or Cathy Newell at 824-2089.

The Oxford County Democratic Committee will meet on Thursday, Oct. 9, in Andover. A benefit supper will be held for the campaign of Jane Rich who is running for Register of Probate. The supper will be held at the First Congregational Church in Andover and is open to the public. Transportation to the Andover meeting will be coordinated at the Bethel Democrats meeting.

Chairman McGuire attended a recent meeting of the Democratic Platform Committee in Lewiston. Mr. McGuire serves as a member of the Economic Development subcommittee. The Platform Committee has been restructured to serve a 2-year term, and will be active during the coming legislative session to work for the implementation of platform plans.

Symptoms of acute cadmium poisoning include severe nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, muscle cramps, and salivation.

Festival set for Columbus Day weekend

Plans have been finalized for the Blue Mountains Arts and Crafts Festival to be held at Sunday River Ski Resort's newly expanded and renovated South Ridge Lodge in Newry, Events Coordinator Paula Berry has announced.

The 3rd annual celebration of western Maine folk arts will be held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 11 and 12, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thirty local craftspeople are expected to attend displaying a wide variety of handicrafts including homemade dolls, woodcrafts, pottery, jewelry, and baked goods.

To accent the festival, local musicians will be playing their brand of country rock on the front piazza. A chicken barbecue, complete with corn on the cob and other native fare will be held on the piazza starting at noon Saturday and Sunday.

Sunday River personnel will be on hand both days to conduct condominium tours and tours of the new facilities. Crisports, the ski and repair shop at Sunday River, will be celebrating their grand re-opening.

FOOD BANK REMINDER

Residents of the Bethel area are reminded that there is an emergency food bank maintained at the United Methodist Church and sponsored by the Bethel Area Clergy Association. Those in need of short-term emergency food assistance may obtain a 3 or 4 day supply by contacting an area minister, who will then arrange for provision of food. The existence of the food bank is due to the concern of local church members and friends.

All-terrain vehicle safety course planned

As of July 1, 1987, an All-Terrain Vehicle Operators under 18 will be required to have completed a safety training program as a result of new ATV legislation. The safety course will be offered on Saturday, Oct. 11 in Bethel under the sponsorship of the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program. The 7-hour course will be taught by Greg Kraft of Auburn who is certified by the state of Maine and the Specialty Vehicle Institute of America (SVIA). The course is a combination of practical riding skills and safety theory, according to SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell, and will be held at the Roberts Poultry Farm on Route 2 in Bethel from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. All students planning to participate must pre-register with the Adult and Community Education program, 824-2780, as there are forms to be completed, and all vehicles used must meet specific safety requirements.

Mr. Kraft is an officer in the Andy Valley Trailvoyagers and has been an active proponent for legislation requiring responsible ridership which he feels will save the sport in the long run, by preventing property damage and injury to riders. The class is open to ATV riders of any age, and is limited in the number of students. Mrs. Newell will offer an additional section on Sunday, Oct. 12, should enrollment warrant. There is a fee of $21 per student.

WOMEN'S FELLOWSHIP

The Women's Fellowship of the West Parish Congregational Church met Sept. 24. Brendon and Jean Bass provided the program, "Diary of Adam and Eve" based on the work by Mark Twain.

Coming events were discussed. On Oct. 8, the women will be providing the luncheon for the senior citizens. See Peggy Wright to volunteer your services and for contributions.

Saturday afternoon, Dec. 6, will be the annual Christmas Fair and Tea. Betsy Raymond and Nancy Hansen, co-chairwomen, enthusiastically presented their ideas. They will be sponsoring at least four craft workshops which will be open to anyone. Participants will be able to learn a new craft or technique as items are produced for the fair. The first workshop will be Sunday, Oct. 5, at 2 p.m. at the church and will feature dough ornaments. Everyone's help is needed for the fair from the sharing of new ideas to making items at home.

The next regular meeting of the fellowship will be Wednesday, Oct. 22. Becky Bailey will present a program, "The Church and Art." All are welcome; meetings are held in Garland Chapel at 9:30 a.m.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, is endeavoring to frequently bring to you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

John 17:20-21 — "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; that they may all be one."

Sunday, Oct. 5, 1986, has been designated as "World-Wide Communion" Sunday. It is celebrated by the Roman and Protestant Churches around the world. On that Sunday, somewhere in the remotest corner of the world, a fellow Christian will receive the Sacrament at the Lord's Table. It is one time when we share a common unity of the Spirit.

In the "Priestly" prayer of Jesus, part of which is quoted in our text, our Lord prays for the disciples, and for the Christian brothers and sisters around the world. Jesus prays for the spiritual unity of believers, and that the world may believe. The unity for which our Lord prays is a unity of love — love of the disciples for the Lord, and love of the world for the special relationship which Christ claims for "believers."

We live in a time when the unity of love is desperately needed. It is needed in our family, in our church, in our community, and in the world. Love is one of the spiritual gifts, and when it is recognized and shared it can bring that longed for peace which families, states, and nations desire.

As a pastor of an area church, I appreciate very much the unity of love which is demonstrated in the Christian family — the church. Without this kind of relationship love is meaningless. With this unity, the families of our town feel a

APPLE HARVEST UNDERWAY

Maine's apple harvest is underway and, according to the Department of Agriculture, consumers have more opportunities than ever to pick their own apples at orchards this year.

Pick-your-own apple harvesting has become increasingly popular with consumers, and, in response, the number of Maine orchards offering that option has steadily increased. To promote this trend, the Division of Market Development has published a brochure listing nearly 40 Maine orchards where pick-your-own opportunities are now available.

Copies of the brochure are available from the Division of Market Development, Station 28, Augusta, Me. 04333, or by phoning 289-3491.

Maine's apple crop is expected to total approximately 85 million pounds—in line with last year's production.

closeness which is not felt in any other relationship.

As we gather at our respective sanctuaries for worship on World-Wide Communion Sunday, may we pray for each other, for the witness of our churches in their uniqueness, and pray that the unity of love will be a strong witness that together, pastors and people, we can show our communities that those who acknowledge Christ as Lord and Saviour can make a difference — a difference in family, church, and community relationships. Won't you join your neighbors in worship at church next Sunday? God bless each one of you.

What do you have in common with Alexander Graham Bell?

As an independent thinker, Alexander Graham Bell chose his faith according to his convictions. Today his faith is practiced by 1000 congregations across the continent. These are communities supporting freedom of thought and personal growth, communities which don't separate religion from daily life.

Maybe the thoughtful faith of Clara Barton, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Whitney Young, Thomas Jefferson, and people to your neighborhood is something you'd like to explore. Think about it. It would like to visit a Unitarian Universalist congregation this week, welcome!

SCRIBNER - MILLS

Miss Rachel E. Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Mills, Bryant Pond, became the bride of Wendell B. Scribner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bourdon Scribner, Harrison, Saturday, June 28, 1986, at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Linwood Hanson. Miss Susan Glines was organist and Mrs. Carmen Bartlett, soloist.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a taffeta gown with venise and raschel lace, melon sleeves and a full skirt with lace and baby ruffle trim and semicathedral train. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Paula Mills, Bryant Pond, was maid of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Martha Denison, Harrison, sister of the groom, Mrs. Melanie Ellsworth, Bethel, friend of the bride, and Miss Barbara Smith, cousin of the bride. They wore identical gowns of pink satin and carried bouquets of mixed flowers.

Dale Scribner, Harrison, brother of the groom served as best man. The ushers were Nathan Mills, California, brother of the groom; Paul Mattson, Harrison, friend of the groom, and Michael Marshall, West Newfield, brother-in-law of the groom.

An outdoor reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Telstar Regional High School and the Central Maine Medical Center School of Nursing. She is employed as a Registered Nurse at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway. Mr. Scribner is a graduate of Oxford Hills High School and is a self-employed woodman.

Following a honeymoon to the Maritime Provinces, the couple reside in Bryant Pond.

'Jaws-of-Life' fund passes $3,000 mark

The Bethel Fire Department and the Bethel Fire Protection Association efforts to raise $11,000 to purchase a "Jaws-of-Life" apparatus reached the $3,000 level last week. Contributions from Tri-Town Rescue in memory of William Sayen, Earlson and Mary Keniston, The Bethel Inn, Don and Ruth Feeney, Rodney Lynch, Tracy and Dr. John Mason, Lee and Ginny Hutchins, and Tony and Eleanor Fuglele lifted the fund total to $3,002.27. Chief Bob Davis said he was pleased by the response so far.

Fund-raising chairman Linda Saunders reported that the Bethel Hill Fire Protection Association has a dance planned at the new Bethel Inn Conference Center 8-12 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 8. Donation will be $25 per couple. She also stated that the Bethel Rotary Club plans a pancake breakfast at the Gould Academy dining hall on the last Sunday in November to benefit the "Jaws-of-Life" fund.

Newry town office

The Newry Board of Selectmen met Tuesday morning at the municipal building and discussed with John Sutton from the International Paper Company, the penalty for removal of a parcel of land from tree growth. This penalty is a percentage of the difference between its tree growth valuation and the amount it would otherwise be valued.

Members of the Planning Board will be attending a land use class under SAD #44 Adult Education for three Wednesday evenings in October, therefore, the board will hold its regular meeting the first Thursday of the month, rather than the first Wednesday, and will discuss the Barker Brook development.

It is expected the new skiway access road will be open to traffic this week and will be tarred sometime next week. In other town improvements, the municipal building is ready for its final coat of paint which will be applied soon, weather permitting.

Personal development workshop, Oct. 10-11

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Program is pleased to announce the offering of a special personal development workshop—Using Your Brain—for a Change/NLP. Barbara Greig of NTL will be the facilitator for this workshop exploring the subject of Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP), to be held at the Bingham House in Bethel on Friday, Oct. 10, and Saturday, Oct. 11. In describing the topic, Ms. Greig said, "We have more influence on our thoughts and feelings than we frequently think. This influence can be either positive or negative and can either keep us from living our lives the way we most want, or can help us enrich our lives. NLP provides a way to identify our own mental and behavioral patterns that keep us from living the way we would like, and helps us use these patterns to our benefit. It also helps us to change these patterns to more productive results."

At the workshop, participants will learn ways to understand behavioral patterns, techniques for establishing rapport, and effective relationship tools. Patterns for individual high performance are able to be identified, and learned using NLP techniques.

Cathy Newell, SAD #44 Director of Adult and Community Education and member of the Bethel/NTL Liaison Committee, stated that this workshop should be a fine addition to the list of programs co-sponsored by the Liaison Committee and local adult education. Barbara Greig has been a regular NTL staff member in Bethel, and her Sunrise Seminars in 1985 and 1986 on NLP were highly acclaimed and led to the request for a more in-depth workshop. To enroll in the NLP Workshop, call the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Workshop, 824-2780. There will be a registration fee of $20 which will include lunch on Saturday.
